POTOMAC RIVER JURISDICTION .- The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:-

"There has been in many cases some difficulover the river, its extent, character, &s. It may and was badly beaten on the back of the head nesses was preceeded with. be stated that the District authorities and all their officers, within their respective spheres of duty, have the same power over the river as is possessed by the Maryland authorities of river counties. This authority extends in breadth to high water mark on the Virginia on the lookout for land. Several of them have shore, and in length to the south line of the District. This is a line running due northeast from the District stone which lies under or near the Jones' Point lighthouse, below Alexandria, and may be ascertained with substantial accuracy by standing at the upper end of the Lower Ferry tavero, near where the District line runs into the Potomac, and 'sighting' southwest to the Jones' Point lighthouse, or vice versa. All the river above this line is within, and all below is without the jurisdiction of the District. The District, however, is not the only authority on the river within these limits. The State of Virginia, the county of Alexan-

THE RECENT WHIPPING CASE. - Consider able feeling is being manifested by the colored any inquiries, so that all afflicted may know people over the case of the two Piersons and Charles Alexander, which was mentioned in Wednesday's Gazette. Their main objection is to the lashes inflicted on the accused. The facts are simply, as stated at the time, that the accused parties were proven to have committed | pamphlet. petit larceny by stealing a shoulder of meat irem Hugh Fegan; for which offense the penalty is whipping. They afterwards went through the city in a very riotous and disorderly manner, insulting ladies, attacking citizens, &c .-When the policemen in the discharge of their duty attempted to arrest them, they were set upon by the prisoners and their friends and in making rolls, bread, biscuits, cake, corn an attempt made to murder them. For this latter offense they were sent to jail for court, while for the former they were punished as the law directs. In addition to these facts it is well known that the parties are old offenders, one of them having served a term in the Maryland penitentiary, and boasting of a murder in Baltimore. He had also made threats against officer Walker, who arrested him on a former occasion for the same crime of petty larceny. SUIT TO RECOVER BONDS .- The case of the City Council of Alexandria vs. Wm. A. Duncan was partly heard in the Circuit Court of Fairtax county, on Wednesday last. It was a suit brought by the city to recover $2,000 of its bonds held by Duncin and the arrears of interest paid him thereon. INTERESTING CASE. - The case of Cordy vs. Conly, which came up in the Circuit Court of [SPECIAL TO THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.] Fairfax county yesterday, is a very interesting one. A paper, purporting to be the will of one Conly, was, after passing through various courts, decided by the Supreme Court of Appeals to be a valid will. Now a certain party (whose name is withheld,) while on his supposed death bed, and on the advice of his confessor, a Catholic priest, made a statement that he forged the supposed will, and thereby defraud by seeing one of the children at work as a ser
